Underage Drinking Laws A Guide For Parents

What you need to know:

- It's illegal to give alcohol to your teen's underage friends under any circumstances even in your own home, even with their parents' permission.
- You cannot knowingly allow a person under 21, other than your own child, to consume or possess alcohol in your home or on your property

What can happen if you break the law:

- · You face a maximum sentence of 30 days in jail and $1,075 in fines and fees.
- Your penalties can "stack up," as you can be ticketed for each underage person you provide with alcohol.
- You can be sued if you give alcohol to anyone under 21 and they, in turn, hurt someone, hurt themselves or damage property.

What you can do to protect yourself:

- · Refuse to supply alcohol to anyone under 21
- · Be at home when your teen has friends over
- · Make sure that alcohol is not brought into your home or property by teen's friends
- · Talk to other parents about not providing alcohol at other events your child will be attending
- · Create alcohol-free opportunities and activities in your home so teens feel welcome
- · Report underage drinking to local law enforcement

For more information, go to www.daodas.org.

Sponsored by The South Carolina Department of Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Services Parents Who Host Lose the Most is an original program of the Drug-Free Action Alliance